From the Deans

Dear Students,

It is important to recognize the role that Dolores Huerta played as the co-founder and Secretary Treasurer of the United Farm Workers of America AFL-CIO (UFW). She was the contract negotiator for the UFW, and chief lobbyist for worker's rights. Furthermore, she was César Chávez closest advisor and most trusted strategist. She has been a major force in the American civil rights movement, the labor movement and a strong advocate for marginalized communities. In recognition for her leadership and commitment to the Latino community, we honor Dolores Huerta as she celebrates her 82nd birthday. You are cordially invited to the Dolores Huerta Leadership Recognition Gala: Honoring Student Leaders on Friday, April 6th at the Edmunds Ballroom, Pomona College at 6 p.m. The program will include great food, music, leadership awards and a tribute to Dolores Huerta by the La Paz Hip Hop group of Rick and Memo. Please reserve your place at this great event by emailing your meal card number to clsa@cuc.claremont.edu. Dolores Huerta has been an advocate for social justice for over 50 years. She established the Dolores Huerta Foundation to continue her work organizing and empowering communities. She is an internationally recognized champion of immigrant rights, a farm worker advocate, a gay rights activist, and a feminist.

We look forward to seeing you at the Dolores Huerta Leadership Recognition Gala.

Si Se Puede!

Scripps College; Viridiana Chabolla and Eric Martinez from Pomona College; Diana Ortiz from Pitzer College; Grecia Rodriguez from Harvey Mudd College; Juetzina Kazmer and Sheila Panez from Claremont McKenna College. This Committee has been meeting all semester tending

To every last detail. It will be a fabulous event highlighting the graduates and their achievements. Participation is at an all-time high and seating is limited to those with an invitation. What a wonderful way to close the 2011-2012 academic year.

CLAREMONT
 CONSORTIUM

Congratulations

The Class of 2012 will soon be leaving Claremont but not without leaving an indelible footprint. At CLSA, we are hearing the wonderful awards and plans these soon-to-be graduates have for their future. Thus far, we have heard about three Fulbright Fellowships awarded to Latinas. They are Chloe Hans-Barrientos from Pitzer. She'll be doing research in Brazil. The title of her research project is, "The Urban Indigenous Youth of Roraima as a Transient Population". She will be researching the movement of indigenous peoples in Roraima, Brazil from rural communities to the city of Boa Vista, the capital of Roraima. Chloe will study how this migration has impacted communal ties and contributed to a generational and cultural divide. Two Scripps College Latinas are also recipients of a prestigious Fulbright Fellowship. They are Stephanie Jimenez who received a Teaching Assistantship to teach English at the University of Medellin in Colombia and Melissa Mesinas will also teach English in Peru. Melissa recently received another award; she was named the 2012 HOPE (Hispanas Organized for Political Equality) Future History Maker. HOPE also named Scripps senior Marisa Mendoza as one of this year's "Latinas to Watch". The women received their recognition at the 21st Annual Latina History Day Conference. CMC senior, Melissa Campos, has been offered a position with the National Human Genome Research Institute in Washington, DC. Albert Maldonado, Pitzer senior, had a big decision to make. Because he received several positive responses to his applications, he must choose from Teach for America; Texas A&M University, Bush School of Government and Public Service; Yale Divinity School and Harvard Divinity School. After much deliberation, Albert has decided that he will enter the Master's of Theological Studies, Religion, Ethics and Politics Concentration at Harvard this fall.

Seniors aren't the only ones to be doing great things. juniors Lindsay Gutierrez and Christina Noriega have

Stanley and Mary Johnson Research Award. This will afford them the opportunity work on their independent research projects during the summer. Lindsay will focus on "The Coachella Valley: Understanding the History of the Desert" and Christina will study "The Politics and Journalism of Postwar Italy."

Congratulations to each and every one of you!

Events of Interest

Having access to the Metro allows you to board the train and be in Los Angeles within a half an hour. There are some interesting exhibits in case you have time to see before you leave for home. The Los Angeles Central Library has a free exhibit entitled "A Nation Emerges The Mexican Revolution Revealed" until June 3rd. The Mexican Revolution was chronicled by Mexican, American and European photographers. These visual revelations show the fall of the Porfiriato and the following years of civil war. The library is located at 630 W. 5th Street and is open Monday through Saturday.

The Los Angeles County Museum of Art (LACMA) currently has on display "In Wonderland: The Surrealist Adventures of The Women Artists in Mexico and the United States." The exhibit includes works from 1931 to 1968 that demonstrate Surrealism's influence on the feminist movement including iconic figures such as Leonora Carrington, Frida Kahlo, Remedios Varo and more. The exhibit closes on May 6th. LACMA is located in central Los Angeles at 5900 Wilshire Boulevard.

If you like staying on campus, Pomona College is hosting a couple of immigration events. The screening of the documentary, "The Senate Speaks" on April 18th at 7:30 pm in Rose Hills Theatre. The filmmakers will be on hand to introduce the film and answer questions. The film is about 2006 immigration reform and highlights marches in LA and what happened subsequently in Congress. On April 19th at 4:15 pm, there will be an immigration policy panel (Hahn 101) followed by a dinner in Smith Campus Center 201 for the audience with the panelists. The dinner is open to all those who RSVP. Panelists are: Michael Camerini and Shari Robertson, filmmakers ("The Senate Speaks"), Esther Olavarria, the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Homeland Security and now Counselor for DHS, and Stuart Anderson, Executive Director of the National Foundation for American Policy.

Chávez Celebration Photos

As the Cesar Chavez Celebration winds down, CLSA would like to thank Harvey Mudd College for being the host campus for this year's keynote address delivered by former NASA astronaut, Jose Hernandez. He was engaging, relatable and is "perseverance" personified.

Dr. Will Perez discussed his new book, "Americans By Heart: Undocumented Latino Students and the Promise of a Higher Education."

Alumna Debbie Palacios' screened her video documentary, "Un Mensaje de los Braceros." Accompanied by some of the men in her video who shared their very moving experiences as braceros in the 1940s, 50s and 60s.

The art workshop is always a fun, relaxing time and the creativity displayed is always amazing. These are but a few of the wood UFW plaques that students made during this semester's session.

Despite the cold, drizzly day, the annual Rockabilly Festival drew hundreds of students and community members. The music was phenomenal and dancing was definitely a way to keep warm. Checking out the unbelievable detail on those cars is fun too. And, of course, the food was delicious. Thank you Latino Student Union for organizing another great event.
