

CALL FOR SUBMISSIONS: DEADLINE FEB 9, 2019 THE THIRD ANNUAL

IGNITE. IMAGINE. INVEST. SATURDAY, FEB 23, 2019

The Office of Black Student Affairs at The Claremont Colleges is excited to announce the third annual Black Intersections Conference, a forum to discuss pertinent issues and events impacting Black communities locally and globally in a supportive, culturally engaging environment. The conference is a space for students, faculty, staff, alumni and community members of African descent to share their scholarship and converse around the factors that shape and impact Black identities and lived experiences.

2019 CALL FOR SUBMISSIONS:

We invite paper sessions, poster presentations, panels and workshops that speak to this year's conference subthemes, Ignite. Imagine. Invest in education, history, media, love and sexuality, (dis)abilities studies, self-care, the sciences, solidarity and all other engaging areas.

CONFERENCE HIGHLIGHTS:

Hosted at Scripps and Pomona Colleges, main events include a registration kickoff lunch, concurrent presentation sessions, a master class and keynote performance with The Lula Washington Dance Theatre, and closing dinner celebration. Meals and events are included with admission. The Conference is free for enrolled Claremont Colleges students, $20 for Claremont Colleges faculty and staff, and $50 for alumni and guests (those not employed or enrolled at The Claremont Colleges).

$35 Group rate for 4 or more.

All those who submit work must also complete the general registration form. Please review all information carefully prior to submitting.

SUBMIT YOUR WORK AND REGISTER TODAY!

Forms and all conference information available at <https://tccs.info/2DVvu6d>

The Black Intersections Conference 2019 Planning Committee

Lydia Middleton, Dean, Office of Black Student Affairs; conference co-chair

Tselot Sibhat Aklilu, student, Scripps College; conference student co-chair

Nick Daily, Assistant Dean, Office of Black Student Affairs

Latreace Cox, Administrative and Events Coordinator, Office of Black Student Affairs

Cleopatre Thelus, doctoral student, Claremont Graduate University

Dr. Maryan Soliman, Professor of Africana Studies, Scripps College

Rebecca Halpern, Undergraduate Engagement Team Leader, The Claremont Colleges Library

Questions? Contact blackintersections@gmail.com

THE OFFICE OF BLACK STUDENT AFFAIRS

IGNITE. IMAGINE. INVEST.

Sponsored By the Office of Black Student Affairs (OBSA) and The Claremont Colleges

Saturday, Feb. 23, 2019
11 a.m.-8 p.m.
Hosted at Scripps and Pomona Colleges
General registration open through Feb. 15

FREE For students of The Claremont Colleges!

$20 For faculty & staff of The Claremont Colleges

$50 For alumni and guests (those not employed or enrolled at The Claremont Colleges)
GROUP RATES AVAILABLE

Present your work!
Submit your paper, workshop, poster, video or panel by Feb 9, 2019.

CONFERENCE WEBSITE
For all conference info: <https://tccs.info/2DVvu6d>

For more information:
Contact blackintersections@gmail.com
www.services.claremontcolleges.edu