The Campus Safety Department, operating 24 hours a day and every day of the year, maintains a variety of emergency medical programming, resources, supplies and equipment to assist any person who becomes injured, suffers an adverse reaction to any substance, or becomes affected by illness. These resources include:

Automated External Defibrillator (AED) – Officers on patrol are certified to use and maintain an AED unit with them, and have access to dozens of AED's located across the colleges and TCCS facilities. These instruments can be used in any instance in which a person is suffering a cardiac arrest or cardiac incident.

First Aid / CPR -- All Campus Safety Officers are trained and certified to perform a wide variety of emergency medical response procedures.

Naloxone – Campus Safety Officers carry NARCAN (Naloxone) to assist them in the response and life-saving effort for any person who is reported to have become incapacitated by the use of an opioid substance. All officers carry this medicine and are certified by the Los Angeles County Department of Health to assess patients, and to administer the NARCAN.

Stop the Bleed – This fully-certified program equips and guides our officers in the life-saving response measures to critical open-wounds that include profuse blood loss.

In addition to these response capabilities in a medical emergency, the Campus Safety Department also works with the Los Angeles County Fire Department, including its local fire stations and paramedics staffs, and coordinates these first responders as well as ambulance and other emergency transportation.
