Overview

CLSA fosters the personal, academic, professional, and leadership development of students across The Claremont Colleges. Through innovative programs and services, CLSA cultivates a vibrant community grounded in identity, resilience, and achievement- empowering students to thrive and become transformative leaders at The Claremont Colleges and beyond.

Celebration of Heritage

Throughout the year, CLSA presents an exciting calendar of events that celebrates our rich culture and heritage. Much of our programming reflects our unique diaspora, through art, music, poetry and film. We also host a series of lectures that facilitate engaging discourse on issues related to our history and current events.

Building Community

One of our key components is the CLSA Sponsor Program, which consists of returning students who serve as peer mentors to first-year students. Our Sponsors support the successful transition of first year students by providing the necessary tools and resources needed to excel in college.

During the academic year, our Center hosts community events that promote leadership development, team building, and networking amongst prospective and current students, as well as our alumni and community partners. In cultivating these strong relationships, we foster a pipeline that advances academic success, professional opportunities, and a strong sense of belonging across The Claremont Colleges.

Academic and Professional Programming

Our comprehensive academic and professional programming includes: workshops to prepare students to apply for graduate and professional schools, resume and CV writing, along with techniques that enable students to attain internships, research, and career opportunities. Furthermore, our office has direct partnerships with Apple, Accenture, SEO Career, Teach for America, Georgetown Law, the University of Miami's Miller School of Medicine, UCLA Drew School of Medicine, amongst many others.

CLSA Resource Lab and Conference Room

In an effort to support professional and academic achievement, our Center provides study spaces that are welcoming and comfortable. Students can work on research assignments in our designated computer lab, which includes free printing, as well as access to a fully stocked tea and coffee bar. Our Center also houses a conference room, suitable for small study groups and is ideal for private meetings and interviews. Lastly, the Center can be accessed after business hours, and on weekends, by filling out a formal request.
